

BABY'S BIRTH CHANGES WILL

Passavant Hospital, Milwaukee, Loses Five Millions By Arrival Of Plankinton Infant.

WILLIAM PLANKINTON'S BEQUESTS

Went To Hospital If His Sons Had No Male Heirs---Baby Born Today Robs Lutheran Edifice Of The Cash.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 30.—By the birth of a male heir to the Plankinton family today, Passavant hospital loses the promise of five million dollars from the estate of the late William Plankinton, who died recently. While there is great rejoicing in the Plankinton family rejoicing in the of the heir the hospital authorities are in mourning.

Strange Will. The baby which has upset the plans of the hospital authorities is the son of William Wood Plankinton and a grandson of the testator, William Plankinton, who was the son of the famous man who amassed an immense fortune in early pioneer days. William Plankinton left five millions to the Passavant hospital on condition that no male heirs were born to any of his sons and the baby born today retains these millions in the Plankinton family.

Many Millions. William Plankinton not only inherited a large fortune from his father, John Plankinton, but also made the fortune much larger by his own successful business operations. The estate controls immense packing plants and valuable real estate in Milwaukee.

TELEGRAPHS ROOSEVELT THAT HE IS MISINFORMED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Boise, Idaho, Oct. 30.—Immediately upon the publication of the Associated Press dispatch to the effect that Secretary Taft would make two campaign speeches in Idaho United States Senator Dubois sent a telegram to President Roosevelt in which he said: "Press dispatches say you are sending Taft to Boise to speak for Governor Gooding in behalf of law and order, and on account of the character of the campaign that is being made against him. If this is true, you are misinformed. No law and order campaign is being waged in Idaho. The sole issue is against the domination of the Mormon church in our politics."

ROOSEVELT LEAVES NEXT WEEK FOR ZONE OF CANAL

Is First President To Disobey Unwritten Law--Unproved Accusations Against Predecessors.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—When President Roosevelt goes aboard ship next week and starts for Panama, he will be doing something that none of his twenty-five predecessors in the executive chair ever attempted, and that is to journey beyond the boundary lines of the United States during his term of office. Mr. Roosevelt on more than one occasion since he assumed office has shown that he is not imposed by statute. It is only an old, unwritten law which has been respected by all successors of George Washington.

President McKinley emphasized his respect for this rule on his memorable tour to the south and west. It was unofficially announced that he would meet President Diaz of Mexico, somewhere near the boundary of that sister republic. A controversy as to whether Mr. McKinley might properly cross the Mexican line, even for a few hours, arose.

From El Paso there extends into Mexico the international bridge spanning the Rio Grande. Whether the President would dare to cross this structure or not was the question which members of his party asked one another. He did not. He went to the bridge and caught a view of the Sierra Madre. Halfway across the bridge was a line. Stepping over this was putting foot on Mexican territory. President Harrison had ventured as far as this line ten years before. But President McKinley did not so much as put his foot upon the bridge.

President Arthur was accused of violating this unwritten law in October, 1883, upon a pleasure trip to Alexandria Bay, Thousand Islands. His political enemies accused him then of venturing across the Canadian line on a fishing excursion. The boundary between Canada and New York extends to the middle of the St. Lawrence river.

President Cleveland was similarly accused. One of his trips to North Carolina he sailed by the coast route past Cape Hatteras. His enemies contended that he ventured outside the three-mile limit. According to international law a country's possessions extend for three miles outside its coast line. Plying the seas farther than this is leaving home territory, which, of course, President Roosevelt will be obliged to do in his coming trip to the south.

STREET CAR WILL BE HAULED OUT

George Road, Foreman of North-Western Wrecking Crew, Jacking Big Machine Up.

George Road, foreman of the Chicago and North-Western railway, is directing the work of jacking up the big fifteen-ton steam roller of the city which fell through the Belmont avenue bridge over Spring Brook yesterday afternoon. A so-called forty-ton jack has been placed under the rear of the machine, the back portion having crashed through the timbers, while the forward part remains on the unbroken flooring of the second span. The part of the bridge that gave way was the first span on the eastern end. The foundation on that side of the creek is being dug away and a runway will be built up to the road. Two street cars, those equipped to pull together and with the largest motors, will be hitched together to "snatch" the bulky roller out. According to Street Commissioner James Bennett, the accident was caused by a weakness of the bridge. He says it is built with eighteen-foot bents, whereas all frame bridges now have but twelve-foot bents. The front roller of the machine, passed over the first span in safety, but the rear rollers, where the machine is the heaviest, were too much for the old planks and timbers and cut through. George Cary of 21 Jefferson avenue, the engineer, was standing on the footboard, but as the bridge gave way slowly he had plenty of time to jump to safety. His assistant, Martin Alongside, was walking immediately behind the roller. The backboard and rear wheels struck the gravel stream and the work of rescuing the roller will be much easier than had the accident occurred on the western side where the bottom is muddy. The half of the bridge on which the street railway tracks are laid was not damaged nor even weakened when the "top" of the roller which overhung one rail was partially removed traffic was resumed.

JOE MILLER'S TRIAL IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Several Officers Testified This Morning and the Taking of Evidence Was Continued This Afternoon. In municipal court this morning the trial of Joseph Miller, the baker, charged with attempted burglary in the Lawrence home, 213 West Bluff street, on the night of Saturday, October 6, was commenced before a jury composed of E. W. Allison, A. B. Walker, George Stevens, N. J. Casper, Clinton Barker, Henry T. Coker, Emil Paulz, William Bowen, John Flynn, Edward Gillespie, Ezra Dillenbeck, and George L. Hatch.

Officer Palmer testified that when Miller, who had been talking with police men about 2:20 o'clock in the morning, Sunday, Oct. 7, was routed out of his bed at Adam Holt's hotel an hour or so later and taken to the Lawrence home for identification. Mrs. Maggie Buggs was still in hysterics and did not notice anyone, but that her sister, Miss Effie Lawrence, under first seeing Miller, threw up her hands and exclaimed, "That's the man!" but that later she said, "No, I don't believe that's him. It was a man who roomed here." Whether or not she could have been alluding to Michael Testes, the baker who roomed there but who, unknown to the household, was in Rockford at the time, did not appear in the evidence.

District Attorney J. L. Fisher is conducting the prosecution and H. L. Mayfield and William Smith are appearing for the defendant.

NO AUDIENCE FOR PROHIBITION RALLY

Candidate for Governor and State Chairman's Visit Here Today. Went Almost Unnoticed.

Dr. E. L. Batof of Madison, prohibition candidate for governor; W. D. Cox, state chairman of the prohibition campaign committee; and Prof. A. M. Thatcher of Boston, vocalist, arrived here this afternoon to conduct a rally in the assembly chamber of the city hall. Through some oversight or neglect the meeting had not been properly advertised and only a few persons had gathered at the hall at three o'clock. The gentlemen had a big o'clock. The gentlemen last night and meeting at Whitewater, last night, held a rally at Beloit this evening. On the first floor of the city hall, meanwhile, a big gallery was watching the Miller trial totally oblivious of anything billed to take place upstairs.

IN DEFENSE OF
SENATOR BURTON

WILLIAM WOLFF SMITH WRITES
EXPLANATION OF CASE.

MUCH CRITICISM UNJUST

United States Unprepared for International Trouble Despite Warning of 1908.

(By William Wolff Smith.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—(Special Correspondence.)—During the rumpus over the prosecution of ex-Senator Burton of Kansas many harsh things were said about him in the public press. Now that he has entered upon his term in jail this most unpleasant episode can be viewed with more calmness. One point in Mr.
Burton's favor has been overlooked—he has never undertaken to apologize or defend himself in public print. Since the charges of malfeasance in office were first brought against him he has refused to be interviewed or to make any statement. In this his course was opposite to that of every other party concerned in the case.

While the matter was first pending before the United States supreme court Mr. Burton was confident the court would dismiss the case. At that time the writer had several conferences with him, with a view of interviewing him on the case and the resulting cause of his prosecution. Mr.
Burton took the ground that he could say nothing unless the prosecution while resting under the stigma of a conviction. Several facts have been generally overlooked by the public which bear upon this case because only one side—that of the prosecution—was exploited. The case hinged on whether the United States is an interested party where the postoffice department has under contemplation the issuing of a fraud order against a private individual. As the supreme court was divided on this point lawyers may be pardoned for entreating an opinion differing from that of the majority of the court. But if the United States was an interested party, as there can be no doubt that Mr.
Burton was guilty of accepting a fee from the other party to the case.
But two facts should be borne in mind: First, that he never made any secret that he had been retained by the Rialto Grain and Commission company, but on the contrary, visited the department and asked if the issuing of a fraud order was contemplated, in order that he might cease his connection with the company, in case the United States should become an interested party through the issuing of such order; and, second, that he never made any attempt to prevent the postoffice department from issuing such order in case the authorities thought one should be issued.
An attempt was made to show that Mr. Burton was retained with the understanding that he would exert his supposed influence with the department, but it was never proven that such an agreement existed, certainly it was never proven that he attempted to exercise any influence to that end.
Under the decision of the supreme court that the United States was an interested party in fraud order proceedings Mr. Burton was guilty of accepting a retainer from the other interested party. Of this there can be no question, but it has never been established that he made any corrupt agreement with his clients, or that he made any secret of his connection with them, or that he attempted to exercise the influence or utilize the prestige that his position gave him in defending the ends of justice. On the contrary, his conduct before the department was open and frank; since his arrest it has been characterized by dignity and silence. For an offense, largely if not wholly technical, he has been ruined financially, degraded from a high position, and is now incarcerated in a cell. With the assistance of his devoted wife Mr.

Burton can confidently hope to re-establish himself when he shall have fully paid the penalty of the law so rigorously applied to his case.

Americans are so concerned over internal matters, prosperity and politics, that few coldly contemplate the position of this country. We are all swelled up with pride over the magnificent progress the country is making, a progress so rapid that we can scarcely keep up with it. But a pin-hole can bring the greatest balloon to the earth. While we are patting ourselves on the back over rapidly increasing navy, and because of the efficiency of the handful of men constituting our army, pacifying the Philippines on the one side of the globe and Cuba on the other, digesting the Panama canal, etc., etc., we fail to stop to consider that having our navy and our sufficient reserve of supplies of men and material the United States is today less prepared for the offensive or defensive in warfare than any other great nation. Take the offensive. The navy is notoriously undermanned. Everything from posters to picture postal cards and moving pictures and advertisements in the newspapers is resorted to for the purpose of inducing enlistments, yet we cannot get the men necessary to properly man the ships now afloat, let alone those being constructed. The army is small and scattered, but even if it could be mobilized it could not be transported any place with any degree of rapidity. When it was necessary to land a few thousand men in Cuba recently ships of all nationalities were called upon. Suppose Cuba and the navy of Germany, England, Japan, or half a dozen other countries, what country would have stepped forward and chartered its vessels to carry our troops?

On the other question of defense, the deficiency of men noted in the navy also applies. The encouragement to rifle practice, given by the government of late years is doing much to equip the country with a reserve beyond that of the militia, but it takes a long time to make good marksmen with a gun carrying two and a half miles. But the most dangerous feature is the condition of the coast defenses. It is betraying no confidence for me to say that the artillery officers are seriously alarmed over the deficiency in the ranks of their men. The writer was recently shown a drawing of a magnificent fort near Newport, now being completed, which will contain a number of large and small guns. It will be equipped with the most modern apparatus known to the science of warfare. When it is completed there will not be a man available to station there; the guns will be covered up to protect them from rust, the machinery will be idle. Millions have been provided for our coast defenses and millions more will be available, but this splendid machinery of war will rust itself away unless men are provided to care for it. These facts have been kept more or less concealed by the department, but from now on a different policy will be pursued.
Our weakness in this respect is fully known to every foreign power.
Probably each one sufficiently interested has blue prints showing the emplacement of every one of our coast defense guns. They know that this country has not enough artillery-men to man the coast defenses of the country, to say nothing of our colonial possessions.

These are facts, not fancies, given to the writer by officials. To man the guns and torpedo defenses now completely equipped for war, with only one relief, where three are required in war-time, requires forty-two thousand men. There are now available 14,133 men, precisely one-third of the number necessary to give one shift of men, and one-ninth of the number to fully man our defenses in time of war. We may delude ourselves with the idea that when war comes a sufficient period of preparation will be given us for the training of men to handle our big coast defenses, but this is a pipe dream. We will, lower, and point them with accuracy and dispatch, to handle the electrical machinery without which they would be useless, to mine our harbors and operate our torpedo stations with their elaborate and intricate switchboards. But when Japan declared war on Russia she did so by sailing into and attacking her ships.
Russia, too, is wealthy in men and resources. Given time to transport men and supplies, to build new war vessels and otherwise equip herself anew, she would probably have crushed Japan in the end. But is the United States, with the exception of the navy, as well prepared for war as was Russia? Have we a Port Arthur or a Vladivostok? Taking Japan merely for example sake, for no one anticipates trouble with that nation —yet Japan is scouring the seas for ships to increase its already powerful merchant marine, heavily subsidized from the laying of the Japanese its landing in a foreign port. Where is our merchant marine? Japan has our Pacific coast defenses that large and demonstrably efficient navy, an army of veterans covered with laurels. What is the condition of our Pacific coast defenses that we, justly, lay in sneering at the Japanese as antagonists? What would prevent them from landing their armies in the Philippines, and where would we get transports and supply ships on the Pacific, even if we had men to reinforce our soldiers now in the far east? If the Americans have the time to turn from the question of internal political reforms, of municipal and government ownership, of radicalism, socialism, they might contemplate with profit some matters that are giving the officers of the army and navy so much concern.

Longevity Inheritable.

One word more about longevity. I believe it can be produced or, at least, perpetuated by breeding, just as other qualities can. Go in a country graveyard and study the tombstones. You will find certain families gifted with remarkable longevity. And where these long-lived families have intermarried you will find that the longevity has been perpetuated.—N. Y. Press.

CLUB ENJOYED THE PROGRAM ARRANGED

The Apollo Club Has a Delightful Musical Evening Monday Night.

With an enthusiastic audience completely filling Library Hall, the Apollo club gave its second concert last evening, the program being in charge of Mrs. J. E. Sweeney.

Miss Helen Buckley of Chicago, Mrs. Trulson of Stoughton, together with Miss Bessie Burch, Mrs. George Riffield, Mrs. Sherer and Messrs. Harry Robinson and Taylor, were the entertainers of the evening.

To the out-of-town performers was entrusted the most of the program, which was a delightful one and planned with artistic precision and foresight. Miss Buckley's truly magnificent soprano of great volume yet also of the tenderest and purest pianissimo was heard for the first time in Janesville and fully merited the hearty applause which she received.

It is a pity, however, that Miss Buck-ley's voice had to be confined to the small dimensions of the hall. Her climax was reached in her last number, "Awakening" by Mrs. Mason, for which the audience tried to recall her, but to which she declined to respond, and rightly for she had previously accessioned to one encore. It is gratifying to see enthusiasm, but people should not forget the artist nor artistic taste. For aside from the great nervous tax on the former, a climax is a climax and should not, cannot, be repeated, it should and must satisfy.
Mrs. Trulson's rich contralto voice was heard to much advantage in Amy Woodford-Finden's four Indian love lyrics, her rendition being most pleasing. Mrs. George Riffield's light, as far as the Apollo club is concerned, has hitherto been hidden under a bushel, but now that she has discovered herself to the club it is to be hoped the program committee will not allow her to be idle, for her talent as a violinist is unquestioned; her rendition of de Beil's Fantasia ballet left but little to be desired, except an encore, which was gladly accepted.
Miss Evelyn Post's two piano numbers showed that she has an assured musical future before her.

THE HOSPITAL OUTLOOK.

The new hospital is an assured fact providing the citizens and physicians care enough about it to aid the Sisters of Mercy to the extent of a $5,000 donation. While the committee is meeting with moderate success the canvass has gone far enough to warrant the statement that if the money is secured it will be necessary for the people generally to contribute.

Prejudice exists in the minds of some people against giving money to establish a Catholic hospital, and the suggestion is made that the property should be deeded to an independent corporation.

This is neither feasible nor practicable for in the end it would result in failure. The Sisters of Mercy are already incorporated and the hospital propose to establish in Janesville is a duplicate of similar institutions in all parts of the country. The citizens are asked to aid in the initial work as an evidence of sympathy and good faith, but the donation asked is small compared with the investment which the Sisters propose to make.

The finance committee had an interview with Archbishop Messmer after he had looked over the property.

He seemed pleased with the surroundings and said that the present building would make a good administration building, and would be used for that purpose as soon as the Sisters could improve the property.

This, of course, means that within brother or sister in their desperate fight for life, with knowledge of the fact that the best that skill and science can do to aid in the struggle is at hand.

Prejudice and narrowness are insignificant and should be lost in enthusiasm for the success of an undertaking which means so much for the city.

Give liberally and the hospital will be secured.

INDUSTRIES OF THE STATE

The statistics for the manufacturing industries of the state, compiled from the census of 1900 and brought down to 1905, are being sent out by the Department of Commerce and Labor. They speak well for the prosperity of the state.

Wisconsin has $553 manufacturing plants, representing a capital of $412, 647,000 and furnishing employment to 151,391 people. Of this number 129,174 are men 15 years and over, 17,970 women, and 4,147 children under 16 years.

The two former classes show an increase during the past five years, while the latter have decreased some 1400. This fact is owing to the wholesome child labor laws which have been enacted during that period.

The total wages paid in 1905 was $71,498,232, and the cost of material used $227,255,000, showing that one-third the cost of manufacture is charged to labor account.

The entire output is valued at $411,139,081, which is not a good showing, as it represents a little less than the capital invested. Much of this capital, however, is absorbed in buildings and permanent improvements.

The breweries, for instance, have 53 million invested, with an output last year of about 29 millions.

The tanneries and machine shops make a similar showing, while the butter and cheese industry with about 6 millions invested, turned out a product worth $30,000,000. This is an increase of 10 million dollars in the last five years and the amount is distributed very largely among the farmers.

About the same amount is represented in the flour and grist mill products to say nothing of stock, tobacco, and bees. The butter and cheese industry of the state ranks next to New York and has no rival in the west. The bulletin contains many interesting statistics and speaks well for the Badger state, which, by the way, is the best state in the union.

THE ELECTION NEXT WEEK

Next Tuesday is election day. One weakness of the primary law is found in the fact that it means a double election, conducted on practically the same lines. This is more or less confusing, and many voters imagine that the election has been held.

If a light vote is recorded on the sixth of November this will account for the shrinkage. The primary election was simply for the purpose of nominating candidates. It takes the place of the caucus and has nothing to do with the election, except to place candidates in the field.

This explanation seems called for as there is more or less indifference concerning the general election. There never was a time when republicans needed to be more alive to the situation than this year, and every member of the party should take interest enough in the men nominated to support them.

Socialism and every other ism is rampant throughout the land. The state as well as the nation owes it to itself to vote for the only party which has demonstrated ability to successfully manage affairs of government. Don't forget that election day is Tuesday, Nov. 6th.

The republican county and state ticket should be supported from top to bottom. Senator La Follette to the contrary notwithstanding. La Folletteism is dead and democracy too badly demoralized to command respect.

The labor unions, under the direction of Samuel Gompers, are after

"Uncle Joe" Cannon's scalp, and Illinois is flooded with speakers. They will find "Uncle Joe" at the front next Tuesday when the ballots are counted.

The New York campaign will wind up with a blaze of red fire and brass bands. Hearst is making a spectacular exhibition of himself and the republicans are meeting him on his own ground.

The Atlantic City horror adds an other chapter to the long list of tragedies for the year. Floods and earthquakes are beyond human control, but railroad wrecks are evidences of human weakness and carelessness which are most deplorable.

Disgruntled candidates have discovered that the people are more difficult to control than the convention,

"but the people are always right," therefore, the primary law must be a good thing. Shake before taking, and give us another dose.

STORM CLAIM OF $300 HELD OVER

ALDERMEN NOT DISPOSED TO REIMBURSE FARM-OWNERS.

TONY STREET NAMES LOST

For Good, According to Some of the City Fathers—Prompt Action Taken to Rescue the Roller.

Judging from remarks dropped during the recess at the council meeting last evening the disposition of a large contingent of the aldermen is not to grant the petition of Lawrence and Paul Place residents to have these "high-toned" names restored to fractional portions of the highways bordering on the court house park. No action was taken in the regular session. All of the aldermen were present at the meeting.

Emergency Necessitates a Loan.

Chairman Connell of the finance committee, after introducing the reports on bills and the salary list, both of which were adopted, presented an order authorizing the mayor to borrow $300, the same to be placed to the credit of the bridge fund. In explanation he said that there was not sufficient money in the fund at the present time to pay Field Bros. bill of $1,275.67 for lumber for the Jackson street bridge and that the expense of rescue and restoration of the steamroller would not be less than $100. The order was passed. On motion of Ald. Brookhaus the street commissioner was directed to temporarily repair the Beloit avenue bridge across Spring Brook.

Protest Against Sewer.

The Blodgett Milling Co. in a communication again vigorously protested against the further discharge of sewage from the St. Paul depot under the company's warehouse. It was hinted during the recess that if the council did not take prompt action with regard to the matter the complaining party would proceed on its own account and seal up the outlet. Chairman Sheridan of the highway committee introduced an order directing the street assessment committee to have laid a sewer from West Bluff to the depot of the C. & M. & St. P. Ry. Co. in accordance with an existing agreement between the city and said company with regard to the disposal of sewage from said depot. This measure was passed.

Saloon License Transfer.

The transfer of the license for operating a saloon at No. 9 North Main street from C. F. Logerman to the Buob Brewing Co. and from the latter to John Bassi, was authorized. The latter's bonds were found to be in due form and accepted. Supt. George T. Croft's report of the work at the stone crusher for the two weeks ending Oct. 27 showed that 311 1/2 yards of crushed stone had been turned out. The work on Washington street had been completed and a total of $83 1/2 yards had been used there.

New Police Rules Adopted.

A set of rules and regulations for the police force, modeled on those in force at Rockford and submitted by City Marshal Appleby, was read and adopted. The city clerk was instructed to draw an order on the treasurer for $182.45 payable to Harding & Nelson, the same being the balance due on contract for work in Sewer District No. 5. The same official was also directed to order 15-inch iron gutter covers to be delivered next April. The installation of the clerk and treasurer's office of two additional telephone instruments at a rental of 50 cents each a month was authorized.

Talked About Lights.

Alderman Fish again reminded the council that a light at the corner of Bluff and River streets where 50 or 60 employees of the shoe factory pass every evening after dark and where considerable switching is done by the railroad, was badly needed if accident was to be avoided. Ald. Buchholz alluded to a dangerous place on Carroll street and Ald. Dulin wanted the fifth ward considered. The appropriation for lights for the year has already been made and City Attorney Maxfield ruled that it would not be lawful to borrow from any other fund. No definite course of procedure was decided upon, the several matters being left to the aldermen of the wards. Chairman Brookhaus of the committee on parks announced that the season was over and the men were taking up the last leaves. By an order which he introduced the street commissioner was instructed to place the fountains out of commission for the winter.

$300 Claims Not Allowed.

Alderman Dulin of the judiciary committee introduced an order calling on the clerk to draw on the treasurer for the sum of $300 payable from the general fund to F. C. Burpee, attorney for John and William Brown in full satisfaction for all damage done to their property by surface water during the storm of August 8. Ald. Sheridan wanted to know what was damaged. He said he had given by the property the day after the storm and that the crops did not appear to be damaged to any greater extent than those on the Woodruff farm and elsewhere in the locality. Ald. Dulin said that the city attorney had approved such a settlement, and he submitted a statement signed by S. B. Heddies, M. F. Green, and Sanford Soverhill to the effect that they had inspected the property in question, which is located near the intersection of Magnolia and Linden avenues, and that they had found three acres of tobacco to be damaged 50 per cent—$225, and serious damage to an acre of cabbage and 5 acres of beets. Ald. Fish said that if the 200 loads of black dirt which had been taken off the property and sold had been left there the water would have run the other way. City Attorney Maxfield said that he had made his recommendation on the facts presented to him; of course if soil had been drawn away from the property that put a new aspect on the situation. Ald. Sheridan moved that the matter be laid over and the motion carried. Ald. Dulin voting "no."

Orders for Commissioner.

The street commissioner was instructed by orders to build brick sidewalks across S. Second on the west side of Park street; across N. Academy in the middle of the block between Wall street and the railroad and on the north side of West Bluff street across Pearl Terrace and Washington streets, together with cement aprons and gutters to connect the same. He was also instructed to repair the macadam on South Main street from Carlington to Shanon streets with crushed stone.

CHARLES ELDRIDGE AS THE LONE TRAMP

Was the Real and Only Star of the Company That Presented "A Message from Mars."

"A Message from Mars," presenting in vivid contrast, through the agency of a fantastic dream, the real humanity, selfishness, and devotion of those who dwell in misery and wretchedness and the appalling self-love and absence of all sympathy and pity that is supposed to prevail among those who dwell in "silk and satin palaces of perfumed ease," was revealed before a small audience at the Myers theatre last evening. The scenic effects and the histrionic work of Charles Eldridge, as the tramp, were all that could be desired. David Proctor, the star, scarcely measured up to one's predilections of what even a despicable cad should be after the long-searching vision that had been visited upon him. Little sincerity and no real depth of feeling rang out in the words with which he welcomed the outcasts to his home, and the conclusion was forced in upon the spectator that the performance wasn't genuine and that the efforts of the terrible messenger from the neighboring planet had been mostly wasted, so far as beneficial results were concerned. John Mackin was fairly good as the messenger. The balance of the cast were disappointing.

Tip for Eyeglass Wearers.

Wearers of eyeglasses have noticed how they become dim when subjected to a sudden change of temperature—as, for instance, when the wearer goes from the cold outer air into a warm room. This may be prevented by rubbing the glasses with soap every morning. They may be polished bright after the soap is applied, but an invisible film is left on them that will prevent the deposit of moisture.

To the Electors of Rock County, Wisconsin:

Information to Voters in Regard to the Election to Be Held on November 6th, 1906.

Notice is hereby given that a general election is to be held in the several towns, wards and election precincts in the county of Rock, on the 6th day of November, 1906, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The name of the candidate for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to this office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column and the questions submitted to vote are stated below:

DIRECTIONS FOR VOTING ON THE VOTING MACHINE: 1st. Close the curtain. 2d. Pull the Yellow Lever having on it the names of your political party over to the Right until the Belt Rings. (This will turn down the Pointers over the names of the candidates in your party.) 3d. If you wish to vote a Straight Party Ticket, leave the Pointers as they are (Down in their voting position). But if you wish to "split" or "scratch" your ticket, turn Up the Pointer from over the name of the candidate in your own party that you wish to cut out, and then turn Down the Pointer over the name of the candidate you wish to vote for for that office, and leave it there. 5th. Open the Curtain. NOTE—unless you are sure that you know just how to operate the machine, it would be well for you to practice on some machine before election day.

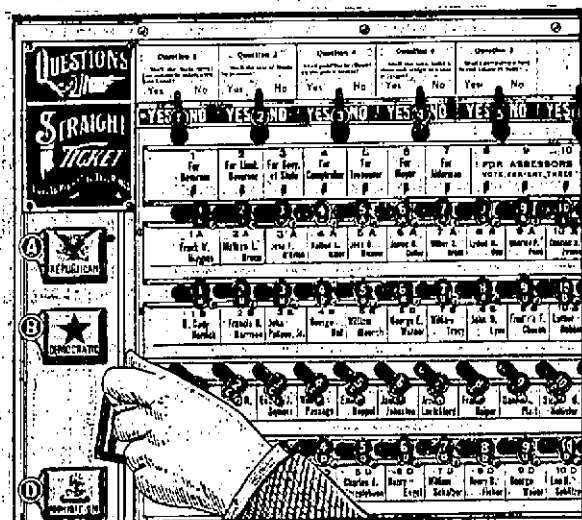

Move the Red Handle of the Curtain Lever to the right as far as it will go.
This will close the Curtain around you, and unlock the machine for voting.

VOTER ABOUT TO CLOSE THE CURTAIN.

Having closed the Curtain—Pull the Party Lever bearing the name or emblem of your Party over to the right UNTIL THE BELL RINGS; and then let it go back. This turns down to a voting position all of the Pointers of the candidates of your party.

The ringing of the bell signifies that the Party Lever has been pulled far enough to unlock the Curtain Lever and engage the registering mechanism.

VOTER PULLING OVER PARTY LEVER:

The turned down Pointers indicate the names of the candidates for whom the vote will be cast.

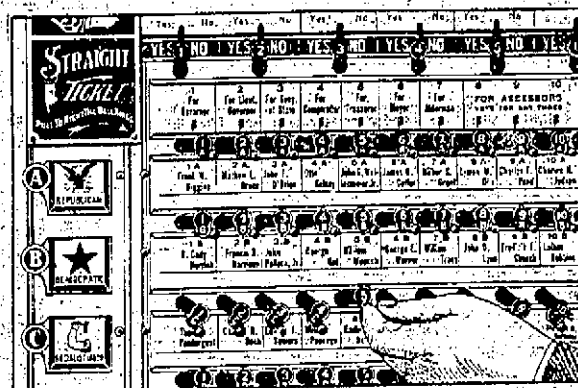

Leave the Pointers as they are (down in a voting position).

Move the Red Handle of the Curtain Lever to the left as far as it will go.

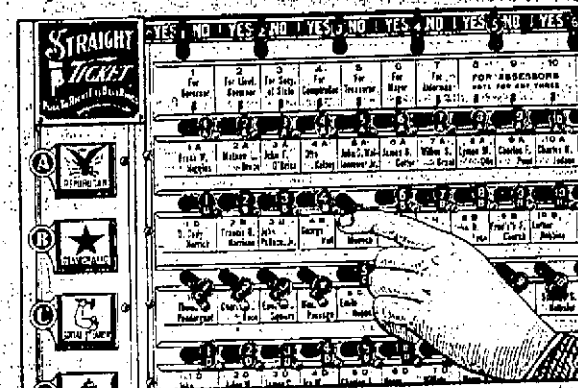

This will count your vote, open the Curtain, and set the machine for the next voter.

Having closed the Curtain—Pull the Party Lever bearing the name or emblem of your Party over to the right. UNTIL THE BELL RINGS, and then let it go back. This turns down to a voting position all of the Pointers of the candidates of your party.

Turn back (up) the Pointer from over the name of the candidate you wish to cut. See illustration below.

And then turn down a Pointer over the name of the candidate you wish to vote for for that office. See illustration below

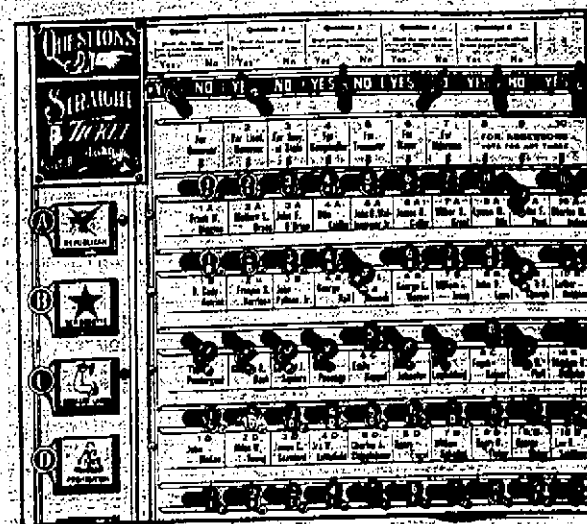

Be sure to complete each Split before making another.

For an office to which two or more candidates are to be elected, the required number of candidates can be voted for, and no more, regardless of position.

After the vote is arranged, move the Red-Handle of the Curtain Lever to the left as far as it will go. This will count one vote for every candidate that has a Pointer left down over his name.

To vote Yes, turn the Question Pointer to the word Yes, and leave it there. To vote No, turn the Question Pointer to the word No, and leave it there.

THE ABOVE CUT SHOWS

That the voter has voted Party Lever "C" and then—Split his vote for Treasurer, on Column 5.

That he has voted for Assessors, voting for three on Column 9 (for which office he is permitted to vote for any three candidates on either of the Columns, 8, 9, and 10).

That he has voted "Yes" on Questions 1 and 2.

That he has not voted on Questions 1 and 5.

If the voter desires, he may make any further changes while the Curtain remains closed, as the vote is not registered until the Curtain is opened.

The Pointers must be left down over the names to be voted for. If the voter turns them back the vote will not be counted, as the opening of the Curtain turns back the Pointers and counts the vote.

Exactly. You catch the spirit of the stage picture. Then fight between two men, applause from the gallery, and victory for either party, as the author has decided. That is the way it would be done in a play. But in real life it is different. I simply hand you back your button thus, "Bidding button to Mr. Barnes and bowing politely. Then he remarked: "Mr. Barnes, you are welcome to that. It is not a part of my set!" "Not a part of your set?" echoed the detective, dumfounded.

"Not a part of my set. I am sorry to disappoint you, but so it is. I will even explain, for I sympathize with you. I told you the set was originally seven. So it was, but the seventh button has been given to me by my friend, but as I could wear but six I returned to her this odd Shakespeare button, which I had made into a breastpin, and kept the others, thus reducing the set of buttons to six. The seventh is no longer a button, you see."

"But how do you account for the fact that this button which I have is plainly a portrait of your friend and a counterfeit to those on your set?"

"My dear Mr. Barnes, I don't account for it; I don't have to, you know. That sort of thing is your business."

"What if I should decide to arrest you at once, and ask a jury to determine whether your original set included this button or not?"

"That would be inconvenient to me, of course. But it is one of those things that we risk every day—I mean arrest by some blundering detective. Pardon me, do not get angry again. I do not allude to yourself. I am quite sure that you are too shrewd to arrest me."

"Because I am surely not going to run away, in the first place, and, secondly, you would gain nothing, since I would be so easy for me to prove all that I have told you, and in your mind you are saying to yourself that I have not lied to you. Really I have not."

"I have only one thing more to say to you, Mr. Mitchell," said Mr. Barnes, rising. "Will you show me that seventh button, or breastpin?"

"That is asking a great deal, but I will grant your request upon one condition. Think well before you make the bargain. When I made that wager, I did not calculate the possibility of entangling in my scandal the name of the woman whom I love dearest on earth. That is the portrait of the woman who will soon become my wife. As I have said, she has the other button and wears it constantly. You will gain nothing by seeing it, for it will simply corroborate my word, which I think you believe now. I will take you to her, and she will tell you of these buttons, if you promise me never to annoy her in any way in connection with this affair."

"I will give you that promise cheerfully. I have no wish to annoy a lady."

"That is for you to decide. Meet me in the lobby at noon precisely, and I will take you to her house. And now will you excuse me while I complete my toilet?"

CHAPTER V.
THE SEVENTH BUTTON.

On the second floor of the apartment house in East Thirtieth street lived Mrs. Mortimer Remsen and her two daughters, Emily and Dora.

Mrs. Remsen's husband had been dead more than ten years, which had amassed a handsome fortune, which left his family able to maintain the position in New York society to which they were heirs by birth and breeding. They lived in the most commodious apartment in the magnificent building in Thirtieth street and were surrounded by an elegant luxury which results from a combination of wealth and refinement. They entertained frequently, and Mrs. Remsen, still a handsome woman, was always a conspicuous figure at the most notable social and charitable events of the season.

Emily, the eldest daughter, was a woman of 36, who commanded rather than attracted admiration. She was of admirable proportions, easy and regal carriage, with a fine head well poised on magnificent shoulders. As to her face—well, I cannot describe it better than did the eminent artist, Gaston de Castilla, who was requested to paint her portrait.

"Madam," said he to her mother, "I do not like to undertake your commission. Your daughter has one of those marvelous faces which defy art. Every feature is a departure from recognized standards, and yet the result is nobility and beauty of the highest type. Only nature herself can produce such effects. Through an imperfect countenance she sheds the rays of an illumined soul, till all faults are obliterated, forgotten. We poor artists cannot hope to supply on our cold canvas what so singular a face must have to make it beautiful." Nevertheless he did paint the portrait, the one which the detective had seen in Mr. Mitchell's room, and he had succeeded at least in suggesting the marvelous effects of character, revealing itself through the features. Other painters had failed, perhaps because they appreciated less than he what they attempted.

This description also gives a hint of the woman herself. A combination of all the softer emotional elements, she dominated self and others by a supreme will. She was rarely disobeyed by suitor or by servant. That she had engaged herself to marry Mr. Mitchell had surprised the entire circle within which she moved, and yet perhaps the secret of his success lay in the simple fact that he had had the courage to ask for her, and to do so in a loving but masterful way which plainly showed that he anticipated Ads. bring results.

It was this fact which had caused the most comment. Mr. Mitchell moved in good society, but he was a new member, and now that he had captured the prize of the matrimonial market all were asking "Who is he?" a question which none seemed able to answer. He was a southerner, and that single fact had shed about him a halo of attractive light which had blinded the eyes of those who feebly attempted to look deeper.

Mrs. Remsen had protested when Emily announced her engagement, but Emily had replied, "Mother, I have given my word," and the discussion was ended. "A few moments later she had affectionately seated herself at her mother's feet, and after tenderly kissing her, whispered: "I love him. He is my king," and then buried her head in her parent's lap. Few women argue against an appeal of that nature. Thus Emily and Mr. Mitchell became engaged, after which he came and went much as though he were the master of the house. Why not, since he had become the master of its mistress?

Dora was her sister's antithesis, save that both were brunettes. She was simply a lovely, docile, impressionable, pretty girl. She adored her mother and worshipped her sister, whom she called "The Queen." Dora was only 17. There had been three boys born between the sisters, but they had died in infancy.

The two girls were in the sumptuous parlor of their apartment, Emily lying on the soft lounge, while Dora sat near her in a cozy armchair, which made her look almost a little girl.

"Queen, did you enjoy the opera last night?" asked Dora.

"Oh, yes," replied Emily, "but you know, my dear, comic opera is comic opera, and all is said."

"It's all very fine for you to talk in that patronizing way, Queen, about amusement, but it is different with me. I have not outgrown the theater yet. I'll tell you what I have been thinking of seriously."

"Seriously," laughed Emily, pinching her pretty sister's cheek. "Why, you sly little rogue, you couldn't be serious if you tried."

"Oh, couldn't I? But listen. I am going to ask Bob."

"Bob?"

"Mr. Mitchell, you know. I told him last night that I mean to call him Bob after this, and he kissed me, and said it was a bargain."

"Kissed you, did he? Well, Miss Impudence, I like that!"

"So did I. But you need not scold because you know what Bob says is law. You are as much afraid of him as—well, as all the rest of the men are of you. But I haven't told you what I am going to do. I want Bob to take me with you both whenever you go to the theater."

"Oh! So that is your little plot, is it?"

"Yes! What do you think of it?"

"What do I think of it? Now I shall surprise you. I think it is an excellent idea. I love you very much, my little sweetheart, and shall be only too glad to see you have as much pleasure as your heart longs for."

"You darling Queen!" and with an impetuous bound the younger girl was on her knees with her arms around Emily, raining kisses upon her lips. This effusive show of affection Emily received with evident pleasure, for, however dignified she could be in her bearing, leaving the impression that she was cold, in reality she was warm hearted to a degree which would have surprised the gossips.

Nestling her head in the folds of her sister's soft silk gown, thus hiding her face, Dora said timidly:

"May I tell you something, Queen?"

"Ha! You mischief, what have you to confess now?"

"I have invited a man to call here," replied Dora, suddenly raising her head and speaking with a different touch in her tones.

"Is that all?" laughed Emily. "Who is the monster? Where did you meet him?"

"I have met him several times at afternoon teas. The last time he asked me if he might call, and I told him he could do so this afternoon when I thought you would be at home. Was it very wrong?"

"Well, Dora, I don't think it was exactly proper, but perhaps it may be all right, since you have met him at several of our friends' houses. But what is his name?"

"Alphonse Thaurer."

"A Frenchman?"

"Yes, though he speaks English with only a very slight accent."

"I don't like Frenchmen. I know it is preposterous prejudice, but I never meet one without thinking him a possible adventurer. With their soft, sycophantic ways, they remind me of cats, and I expect them to show their claws at any moment. However, perhaps your Frenchman will not call, and then—"

"Oh, but he will! He said he would come this afternoon. That is why I have been so nervous. I was afraid you might be going out, and—"

"No, I will be here to protect you. Besides I expect Bob at any moment. He said he would come about noon, and it is after that already. Perhaps that is he now. Yes; three rings!"

"Oh, so Romeo and Juliet have signified! But jump up, Queen. He must not catch us lying down and spooning."

A Woman's Gratitude

"For more than a year I had been a sufferer, completely broken down. I had not slept but two or three hours any night for weeks. I had such awful misery in my head, and oh, I was so irritable. I could not depend upon my judgment, and my memory was failing. I realized that I was losing my mind, and I thought the grave, or worse, the asylum, would be my doom. My doctor said my case was beyond the reach of medicine. I went to a druggist and told him my condition. He recommended 'Dr. Miles' Nerveine; he was pretty sure it would help me, so I bought a bottle. That night I took a table spoonful, and fell asleep in a few minutes, the first rest I had in weeks, and oh, I will never forget that sweet sleep while I live. I have continued taking it, and sleep like a baby, and gain rapidly."

Dr. Miles' Nerveine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will help you. If it fails, he will refund your money.

BISHOP NICHOLSON IS DEAD

HEAD OF MILWAUKEE EPISCOPAL DIOCESE EXPIRES.

Venerable Clergyman Was Stricken While Ordaining Class Last May and Never Recovered.

Milwaukee, Oct. 30.—Isaac Lea Nicholson, D. D., bishop of the Milwaukee Episcopal diocese, died at his residence in this city late Monday afternoon after a lingering illness. The end came peacefully and was not unexpected. An ailment of the heart together with other complications was the cause of death. He is survived by Isaac Lea Nicholson, Jr.

Bishop Nicholson was first stricken on May 26 of last year, when he suffered a collapse while ordaining a class at Nashotah house. He was brought to his home in Milwaukee the next day and had been incapacitated ever since. He was nearly 63 years of age. William Walter Webb, D. D., who was consecrated bishop coadjutor several months ago, succeeds to the bishopric.

Bishop Nicholson was a graduate of Dartmouth college in 1869, and from the theological seminary of Virginia in 1871. He was ordained to the diaconate in 1871 and to the priesthood in 1872 at Baltimore. He was consecrated bishop in St. Mark's church, Philadelphia, Oct. 1, 1891, succeeding Bishop Cyrus P. Knight.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters. A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting.

A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for. The voter must make a cross (X) mark in the square under the name of each person he desires to vote for. If he wishes to vote for a person for a certain office whose name is not on the ballot he must write the name in the blank space under the printed name of the candidate for the office. The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled it must be returned to the ballot clerk who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter. After it is marked, it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed indorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place. A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking the same, to be chosen by the voter, and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion as to such persons disability. The candidates for the different offices are, for example, as follows:

NOTE—The names of the candidates for the State offices on the various tickets will be found in the instructions for voting on machines, page 6.

OFFICIAL BALLOT FOR GENERAL ELECTION
